Wooden casings for outdoor units type SPC Split Cover

Application

These aesthetic wooden casings protect the outdoor unit from all types of weather conditions. Available in 3 versions.

Specifications

- These aesthetic casings protect the outdoor unit and hide the outdoor units from view
- The casings are made of treated wood (Scots pine - Wolmanit CX10) to avoid damages by wood rot and insects
- Easy and quick installation because the mounting holes and mounting set with adjustable feet are already provided
- Sloping roof for a good water draining
- Can be painted if necessary
- The installation conditions of the outdoor unit have to be taken into account when selecting the wooden casing
- The slats are flat and within the frame so that they can no longer be damaged during transport or storage
- An increase of the gaps between the slats improves the air flow
- A larger opening at the rear guaranties a better air intake
